EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act of 2000, also known as Proposition 36, amended existing drug sentencing laws to require criminal defendants who are convicted of a non-violent drug offense to be placed in drug treatment as a condition of probation, instead of incarceration. Drug treatment was also required for State parolees convicted of a non-violent drug related violation of parole. To cover local costs for treatment programs and other necessary services, Proposition 36 appropriated statewide funding of $120 million per year through Fiscal Year (FY) 2005-06, with an initial FY 2000-01 appropriation of $60 million for planning and implementation. Los Angeles County received approximately $30 million for FY 2003-04 and anticipates similar funding for subsequent fiscal years through FY 2005-06. Statewide implementation of Proposition 36 began on July 1, 2001.

Los Angeles County used a coordinated, collaborative approach in implementing Proposition 36 involving the Superior Court, District Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office, Probation Department, Department of Health Services Alcohol and Drug Program Administration (ADPA), California Department of Corrections/Parole (Parole) and community-based treatment providers. The Board of Supervisors designated the Countywide Criminal Justice Coordination Committee Proposition 36 Implementation Task Force as the advisory group responsible for the development of policies and procedures for the implementation of Proposition 36. The ADPA was designated as the lead agency for Los Angeles County's Proposition 36 program.

For FY 2003-04, a total of 8,638 new defendants were either convicted and sentenced by the Court or ordered by Parole to participate in Proposition 36. Of the 8,638 defendants, the Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs) provided assessment and treatment referral services to 7,388 participants. However, it should be noted that the CASCs actually had 25,342 contacts with Proposition 36 participants during this period because many participants returned to the CASCs approximately 2-3 times during their treatment. Of those new participants assessed by CASCs, 6,030 participants reported to a community-based treatment provider as instructed. Including those participants already in treatment at the start of the fiscal year, 15,013 participants received treatment during this time, a 37 percent increase from the previous year. At any given time, approximately 5,000 participants are receiving treatment services in Los Angeles County.

The proportion of Proposition 36 male to female participants (79 percent to 21 percent) was reflective of the overall criminal justice population. At 41 percent, Hispanics/Latinos remained the largest participant group. Methamphetamine remained the leading primary drug of choice. The geographical breakdown for participants from each Service Planning Area (SPA) was similar to last year. In addition to providing quality services to the largest number of Proposition 36 participants in the State of California, Los Angeles County continued its efforts by:

- Making funding adjustments to existing programs according to utilization trends
- Continuing Regional Coordinating Council meetings to enhance community involvement and ongoing communication and collaboration with the Proposition 36 stakeholders

- Maintaining the Proposition 36 Helpline to assist all involved Proposition 36 agencies and participants
- Participating in Community Assessment Services Center Directors Meetings
- Educating the public on Proposition 36 and its implementation/operations
- Maintaining the ADPA Proposition 36 Website
- Enhancing the Treatment Courts and Probation eXchange (TCPX) system for data collection and program evaluation

The goals for the coming years were to provide the highest quality of services to Proposition 36 participants, to improve participant reporting from Court to assessment to treatment, and to work on ensuring long-term funding for services after FY 2005-06.

CHAPTER ONE

SUBSTANCE ABUSE AND CRIME PREVENTION ACT OF 2000 – PROPOSITION 36

I. WHAT IS PROPOSITION 36?

On November 7, 2000, California voters passed the Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act of 2000, also known as Proposition 36. The purpose was to enhance public safety by reducing drug-related crime and preserving jail and prison space for violent offenders. Proposition 36 amended existing drug sentencing laws to require that adult criminal defendants who were convicted of possession, use, transportation for personal use, or being under the influence of a controlled substance be placed in drug treatment as a condition of probation, instead of incarceration. Proposition 36 also applied to State parolees convicted of non-violent drug offenses or drug-related parole violations. Eligible offenders received up to one year of drug treatment followed by six months of continuing care services. Vocational training, family counseling, literacy training, health, mental health, and other services were also provided. Proposition 36 allowed for the dismissal of charges upon successful completion of treatment.

Proposition 36 became effective on July 1, 2001 and made significant changes in the way many drug offenders were handled by both the criminal justice and treatment delivery systems. Court-supervised treatment, probation and/or parole were required for offenders as a means to break the cycle of drugs and crime, while still promoting public safety. Most non-violent offenders or parolees, who were convicted or found in violation of possession or under-the-influence offenses, were eligible to receive treatment in the community in lieu of incarceration. This represented a significant shift in the handling of this population and provided an opportunity for both the treatment delivery system and the criminal justice system to move toward a more holistic approach of handling substance abuse offenders. Proposition 36 specifically required that all treatment programs be licensed or certified by the California Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs (ADP).

The proposition appropriated statewide funding of $120 million per year through Fiscal Year (FY) 2005-06 to cover the costs for treatment programs and other necessary services. An initial allocation of $60 million was provided for FY 2000-01 for planning and implementation. Appropriated funding for Proposition 36 ends on June 30, 2006. However, the changes made by Proposition 36 to the drug sentencing laws were permanent.

Proposition 36 funds, by statute, cannot be used for the purpose of drug testing. The passage of Senate Bill (SB) 223¹ in 2001 provided $8.4 million specifically for drug testing of Proposition 36 participants with the requirement that testing shall be used as a treatment tool.

II. PROPOSITION 36 IMPLEMENTATION IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY

Since its overwhelming approval by the Californian voters in November 2000, all Los Angeles County stakeholders have committed to successfully implement the Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act of 2000 (more commonly known as Proposition 36). Since its initial planning stage, all involved have worked diligently and collaboratively to advocate and preserve accountability, flexibility, quality treatment, appropriate supervision, and public safety.

On November 15, 2000, the Countywide Criminal Justice Coordination Committee (CCJCC) established the Proposition 36 Implementation Task Force to develop the planning process for a comprehensive system of care for drug offenders sentenced under the new law. The Task Force was comprised of approximately 60 members representing County and City criminal justice agencies, judicial officers, the Chief Administrative Office, various County Departments including Health Services, Probation, Mental Health, Public Social Services, Sheriff, and various drug treatment provider associations (Attachment I).

On February 20, 2001, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles resolved the following:

- Designated the County of Los Angeles Department of Health Services Alcohol and Drug Program Administration (ADPA) as the lead agency for Los Angeles County's Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act of 2000 responsibilities;
- Designated the Countywide Criminal Justice Coordination Committee Proposition 36 Implementation Task Force as the advisory group responsible for the development of policy and procedures for the coordinated implementation of the Act among all involved County departments and the Court;
- Assured that the County of Los Angeles shall comply with the provisions of the Act and the California Code of Regulations, Title 9, Division 4, Chapter 2.5; and
- Assured that the County of Los Angeles has established a Proposition 36 trust fund and shall deposit all funds received into that trust fund.

With a County implementation plan approved annually by the California Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs (ADP), Los Angeles County received:

- Fiscal Year (FY) 2000-01 - $15.7 million for initial planning and implementation;
- FY 2001-02 - $31.2 million for Proposition 36 services and $2.2 million for drug testing;

- FY 2002-03 - $30.3 million for Proposition 36 services and $2.3 million for drug testing; and
- FY 2003-04 - $30.6 million for Proposition 36 services and $2.3 million for drug testing.

The County expects to receive similar funding amounts for subsequent fiscal years through FY 2005-06, when funding for the initiative ends. The Proposition 36 funds were specifically earmarked to meet the statutory requirements for community-based drug treatment, probation supervision, court monitoring, and other related services.

A. Program Implementation

The successful implementation and ongoing operation of Proposition 36 in Los Angeles County required coordinated collaboration from the Court, ADPA, Probation Department, District Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office, California Department of Corrections/Parole, and community-based treatment providers.

i. Court Processing

Following entering of a guilty plea or a finding of guilt at trial, defendants were ordered to designated Proposition 36 Monitoring Courts (Attachment II) responsible for sentencing, monitoring treatment progress, and, when necessary, conducting violation hearings to determine whether probation shall be revoked.

Once eligibility was determined, offenders were placed on formal probation and ordered to participate in Proposition 36 treatment services. Many of the Proposition 36 Monitoring Court bench officers were also experienced Drug Court judges. These bench officers had a keen understanding of different levels of treatment, the need to intensify treatment services, the use of drug testing as a therapeutic tool, and the provision of incentives to facilitate recovery. Active and consistent court supervision is essential to the success of the drug treatment services required by Proposition 36.

While Proposition 36 allowed the Court to sanction participants who were not amenable to treatment, it also provided an important incentive to those who successfully completed the treatment program. If there were no violations of probation, all fees and fines were paid, and the Court found reasonable cause to believe that a participant would not abuse controlled substances in the future, the Court was authorized to dismiss the case.

ii. Probation Processing

After the responsible Deputy District Attorney and the defense counsel screened a defendant, the Pretrial Services Division of the Probation Department assessed the defendant's eligibility for Proposition 36. The Probation Department conducted a criminal history review to determine whether a defendant must be excluded from participation in Proposition 36 due to prior criminal convictions or concurrent charges.

Following conviction of eligible charges and the offender's willingness to participate in Proposition 36, the Court ordered the offender to report to one of the Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs) for assessment and referral for treatment. Deputy Probation Officers (DPOs), who were co-located at the CASCs, provided participants with an orientation as to the terms and conditions of probation, and coordinated the initial provision of treatment and supervision services. Once a participant was interviewed by both treatment and probation staff at the CASC, he/she was immediately placed into a community-based treatment program. The participant was then ordered to return to Court within 30 days for monitoring for compliance with all Court-ordered conditions of probation and a review of the initial treatment plan.

Next, Probation supervision was transferred from the CASC DPO to a local area office DPO within 60 days. The supervising DPOs obtained information from the treatment providers on the participants' treatment progress, including drug-testing results, attendance at required counseling sessions and meetings, and other necessary information. The DPOs were also responsible for administering quarterly, random and observed drug tests. Progress reports were submitted separately by Probation to the Court on a quarterly basis, or as ordered by the Court according to risk assessment and ongoing compliance/non-compliance with set orders. All violations are reported to the Court by Probation within 72 hours. Based upon the charges, the average length of probation supervision was approximately 36 months, unless the participant's progress in treatment merited early termination and dismissal of his/her case.

iii. Parole Processing

During the first year of implementation, the Board of Prison Terms (BPT) was responsible for processing all Proposition 36 eligible parolees for assessment and progress monitoring. Since October 1, 2002, the California Department of Corrections (CDC) Parole and Community Services Division (Parole) assumed the supervision and monitoring responsibilities from the Board of Prison Terms (BPT). Parole remains in charge of identifying and screening eligible parolees for Proposition 36 treatment programs, making referrals to CASCs, and supervising parolees' treatment progress and compliance while in the community. Local Parole Agents directed eligible parolees to one of the CASCs for assessment and referral for treatment. The parolees were required to bring two documents (Activity Report and Proposition 36 Waiver Form) when reporting to the assigned CASC.

The treatment providers were required to submit a treatment plan within 30 days, progress reports on a quarterly basis to both Parole Agent and Board of Prison Terms, and results of positive drug tests within 24 hours of receipt.

Some parolees were also under Probation supervision for committing a new Proposition 36 eligible, non-violent drug offense. These participants were subject to the dual supervision of Parole and Probation regulations. The treatment providers were required to submit a treatment plan to the Court, Parole Agent, and DPO within 30 days and monthly progress reports, or as ordered by the Court. Finally, the treatment providers were required to notify the DPO, Parole Agent, and the Court of a positive drug test within 24 hours of receipt.

iv. Treatment Delivery

Assessment and Referrals

Proposition 36 regulations mandated that an array of comprehensive treatment services be available to all Proposition 36 participants. ADPA provided treatment services through a network of treatment and recovery agencies since the inception of Proposition 36.

The first step of treatment involved the ordering of the offender by the Court or Parole Agent to one of 11 Proposition 36 CASCs (Attachment III) for an assessment of addiction severity and treatment needs. These CASCs are located in the neighboring areas of those courts with the highest number of drug-related cases.

Professional counselors assessed each participant using the Addiction Severity Index (ASI), a nationally recognized tool used widely in the addiction treatment field, to determine the level of each person’s substance abuse problems and other life situations. Following assessment, a referral was made to a Proposition 36 community-based treatment provider and an appointment to begin treatment was confirmed.

Treatment Services

Proposition 36 specifically mandated up to one year of primary treatment services followed by six months of continuing services. Primary treatment services consisted of a three-level system increasing in duration and intensity, depending on the assessed severity of addiction, coupled with the criminal history risk assessment (Attachment IV). Treatment services for those who have a low level of severity included outpatient services (including a combination of individual, family, and group counseling sessions), self-help group meetings, and supplemental treatment services (which included literacy training, vocational guidance, mental health services, health services, and transitional housing). Treatment services for those participants assessed at mid to high severity levels consisted of more intensive services such as day treatment, residential detoxification, residential treatment, and narcotic replacement therapy, as indicated, in addition to the range of services provided to lower-level participants. Regardless of the treatment level, random and observed drug testing is conducted for all participants.

Continuing care services ordered by the Court followed the successful completion of the more intensive primary treatment services for participants at all levels. These services included:

- Documented continuation of ancillary services in a continuing care plan that included monthly progress reports to the Court (copy to Probation and/or Parole) for six months;
- Mandatory attendance at no less than three self-help meetings or support groups per week;
- Voluntary attendance at treatment provider alumni group meetings; and
- One face-to-face group contact per month with the treatment provider to verify client participation.

The Monitoring Court bench officer, treatment provider, DPO, and/or Parole Agent worked in partnership to encourage a participant’s ongoing involvement in treatment. The treatment plan and level of services were adjusted based on the participant’s compliance or non-compliance with program requirements. Treatment providers were encouraged to communicate frequently with the Court, Probation, and/or Parole, and to use these entities as resources to assist with compliance.

During FY 2003-04, ADPA contracted with 101 certified and/or licensed treatment agencies that provided services at 226 sites throughout Los Angeles County (Attachment V). ADPA reviewed the utilization rate of all service contracts on a regular basis to ensure the appropriate and effective use of Proposition 36 funding.

Drug Testing

All Proposition 36 participants, regardless of their treatment level, were required to submit to random and observed drug testing as follows:

Level I	1 per week
Level II	1 per week
Level III	2 per week (first 8 weeks) 1 per week (9 th week and continuing for the duration of treatment)

Los Angeles County guidelines specifically required that testing be random and observed; all treatment staff must be trained on appropriate protocols and procedures for collection; and the chain of custody for urine samples must be maintained. In addition to drug testing conducted by the treatment providers, the Probation Department administered quarterly random and observed drug tests. Probation also conducted random tests at the request of the Court or treatment providers.

v. Data Collection and Reporting

The Treatment Court and Probation eXchange (TCPX), a sophisticated information collection, sharing, and transmission system, was specifically designed to accommodate the reporting and statistical needs for the Superior Court, Probation Department, treatment providers, and ADPA for the implementation of Proposition 36. The system featured a browser-based application designed to support client referrals, treatment operations, and the administrative requirements of Proposition 36. The system provided a computerized mechanism via internet/intranet for:

- Establishing electronic referrals from the Court to the Community Assessment Services Centers;
- Recording defendant treatment assessment information and submitting this information electronically to the Court;
- Assigning treatment provider(s) based on participants' needs;
- Standardizing progress reports and treatment plans;
- Electronically submitting reports to the Court; and
- Providing statistical information.

TCPX continued to expand statistical reporting capabilities and improve efficiency. Funding for TCPX was supported through the County’s Proposition 36 allocation.

vi. Fiscal Plan

In order to fully utilize the funding allocated to Los Angeles County, the Proposition 36 Task Force adopted a five-year funding plan that allocated the funds as indicated below:

Total Projected State Funding for Los Angeles County (January 2001 through June 2006)	$177,724,237
Projected Allocations:
ADPA-Contracted Treatment Programs	$141,619,413 (80.3%)
ADPA Program Monitoring	$6,383,731 (3.6%)
Probation Services	$22,719,099 (12.4%)
Management Information Systems/Data Collection	$3,456,994 (1.9%)
Court Operations	$3,545,000 (1.8%)

B. Program Oversight

i. Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors

The implementation of Proposition 36 required a coordinated and collaborative strategy between the Court, Probation, ADPA, other County agencies, the California Department of Corrections/Parole, community-based treatment providers, and other key stakeholders. The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors established the Countywide Criminal Justice Coordination Committee (CCJCC) Proposition 36 Implementation Task Force as the official advisory group for the coordinated implementation of the program. A smaller working group, the Proposition 36 Executive Steering Committee, was established by the Task Force to guide the implementation and ongoing operation of Proposition 36 in Los Angeles County. The Steering Committee met on an ad-hoc basis and included representatives from the Court, Public Defender’s Office, District Attorney’s Office, Probation Department, Sheriff’s Department, CCJCC, California Department of Corrections/Parole, ADPA, and representatives of the treatment provider network (Attachment VI).

ii. Community Input

Community input and involvement were critical pieces of the implementation and ongoing operation of Proposition 36. ADPA established four Regional Coordinating Councils in February 2002 to identify and address issues of local concern and to ensure communication between the community members and the Executive Steering Committee. The purpose of the Regional Coordinating Councils was to:

- Promote coordination, collaboration, and information-sharing among all the involved agencies;
- Enhance community involvement with the agencies;
- Provide a forum for sharing information and requesting direction from the Proposition 36 Executive Steering Committee; and
- Provide information and support to the various agencies as appropriate.

Due to the size of Los Angeles County, four separate councils were created to accommodate better participation:

- North/Northeast (Service Planning Areas 1 and 2): Antelope Valley, San Fernando Valley, and Santa Clarita Valley.
- East/Southeast (Service Planning Areas 3 and 7): San Gabriel Valley, Pomona, Santa Fe Springs, and Whittier.
- Central/South (Service Planning Areas 4 and 6): Metropolitan, and South Los Angeles.
- West/South Bay/Long Beach (Service Planning Areas 5 and 8): Long Beach, South Bay, and West Los Angeles.

Meetings of the four Regional Coordinating Councils are convened quarterly by ADPA in collaboration with Regional Court Coordinators. The Councils review and discuss the implementation and operation of Proposition 36 and address issues specific to each local area. The Councils are composed of representatives from the local branches of the Court, Public Defender's Office, District Attorney's Office, Probation, Parole, CASCs, treatment providers, and interested others. All meetings are open to the public.

Input from Regional Coordinating Councils provides an important resource for the Steering Committee when formulating systematic policies and procedures for a more efficient and effective Proposition 36 network in Los Angeles County. Discussing and brainstorming treatment-related and criminal justice issues/concerns provides an opportunity for all stakeholders to compare the similarities and differences in their operations and ultimately, helps to enhance the quality of services. The face-to-face interactions among all players contribute to improving communication and establishing a rapport that helped sustain Proposition 36 participants' involvement in the program.

C. Program Monitoring

The Board of Supervisors designated the Alcohol and Drug Program Administration (ADPA) as the County's lead agency, which was responsible for providing quality treatment services to all Proposition 36 participants.

The ADPA Contract Services Division was responsible for monitoring all Proposition 36 treatment providers and CASCs contracted by Los Angeles County. In addition to monitoring compliance with federal, State, and county laws, regulations, ordinances and contracts, the Contract Services Division used a standardized monitoring instrument to ensure compliance with the County's Proposition 36 Implementation Plan. A toll-free "Proposition 36 Help Line" was established to address issues, problems and questions from the Court, treatment providers, clients, and the public in a timely manner. The Help Line played a major role for the quality assurance of Proposition 36 services.

The TCPX automated information system also compiled information from a variety of sources to create a consolidated record for all Proposition 36 participants. The system provided the Court and County agencies with all required reports for processing Proposition 36 cases/participants as well as a variety of statistical reports. The TCPX system provided ADPA with the capability to obtain summary information on the number of participants by treatment levels, no-shows, dropouts, successful completions of assigned programs, and other management information to assess and evaluate each treatment provider's capability to provide timely treatment to Proposition 36 participants.

D. Program Evaluation – Statewide SACPA Evaluation

Proposition 36 specifically required that the California Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs contract with a public university to conduct a long-term, statewide evaluation project aimed at reviewing the effectiveness and financial impact of Proposition 36. The Integrated Substance Abuse Programs of the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA-ISAP) was selected to conduct this evaluation. From the data collected by the counties, the UCLA-ISAP issued reports evaluating the effectiveness and fiscal impact of the program, including the implementation process, review of incarceration costs and changes in the crime rate, prison and jail construction, and welfare costs. The evaluation covers the period from the initiation of operations on July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2006.

Los Angeles County was chosen as one of ten Focus Counties selected for the statewide evaluation project. The selection of the Focus Counties was based on the following criteria:

- Mix of urban and rural counties;
- Broad geographic coverage of the state;
- Capabilities for collecting Proposition 36-relevant data; and
- Diversity of implementation strategies.

The scope and terms of collaboration between the Focus Counties and UCLA-ISAP were tailored to each County and designed to serve both the evaluation needs and county-specific purposes. As a Focus County, Los Angeles was responsible for facilitating contact with Proposition 36 participants, assisting UCLA-ISAP in accessing program data, and participating in stakeholder surveys and focus groups.

In addition to group meetings with focus counties, UCLA-ISAP also conducted an annual five-part survey of county stakeholders, which included Lead Agency, Alcohol and Drug Program Administration, Court, District Attorney, Probation, and Public Defender. The survey covered operating procedures, the number of participants, and the overall rating of program performance and collaborative efforts.

As part of the outcome evaluation, UCLA-ISAP plans to conduct phone interviews with approximately 2,000 participants (statewide) 12 months after their initial assessment. Some participants will be chosen to be interviewed in-person and paid for their participation. The majority of the face-to-face interviews (also randomly selected) will be conducted in Los Angeles County due to budgetary constraints and logistics. All 11 CASCs informed Proposition 36 participants of the statewide evaluation at the conclusion of their initial clinical assessment, which entailed an oral and written explanation of the evaluation activities, along with a postcard containing a toll-free phone number for reporting his/her contact information to UCLA-ISAP. Los Angeles County, as well as the other 57 counties, provided UCLA-ISAP with Proposition 36 participant data on a regular basis.

In addition to participating in the statewide evaluation of Proposition 36 conducted by UCLA-ISAP, Los Angeles County also evaluated its Proposition 36 program services as a subset of its Los Angeles County Evaluation Study (LACES). This study established an ongoing system for evaluating the effectiveness of County-contracted alcohol and drug treatment programs. UCLA-ISAP also served as the evaluator responsible for LACES. Progress reports on the LACES effort were posted on-line at www.laces-ucla.org.

CHAPTER TWO

YEAR THREE IN REVIEW – FISCAL YEAR 2003-04

I. DEFENDANT ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATIONS

During Fiscal Year (FY) 2003-04, the Probation Department's Pretrial Services Division conducted criminal history eligibility checks on 11,949 cases for defendants referred by the Court for Proposition 36 eligibility determinations. These checks involved intensive reviews of numerous automated criminal justice information systems, which determined participant eligibility under the State's legal requirements.

In FY 2003-04, the Pretrial Services Division began a process for pre-screening defendants prior to referral by the courts. During this period, 5,417 additional defendants, whose arrest charges were within the guidelines for Proposition 36 eligibility, were pre-assessed. The assessments were sent to the Court for bench officers' consideration of Proposition 36.

In addition, the Probation Department's Adult Investigations began a similar process to determine eligibility for Proposition 36 treatment during the course of their normal investigative duties. However, these screenings could not be enumerated at this time due to technical systems difficulties.

II. SENTENCED PARTICIPANTS

From July 1, 2003 through June 30, 2004, a total of 8,638 new offenders (participants) were convicted and sentenced by the Court, or were ordered by the California Department of Corrections/Parole (Parole) to participate in Proposition 36. These participants accounted for 10,029 cases:

- 9,471 cases (94%) sentenced by the Court
- 558 cases (6%) directly referred by Parole to Proposition 36

For those sentenced by the Court, the majority (66%) were felonies and the primary conviction charge was possession of a controlled substance.

Among the offenders sentenced by the Court, 680 cases were dual-supervision cases. These were parolees who sustained new arrests, were sentenced by the Court, and were placed on probation while still under Parole supervision.

During the period of FY 2003-04, Proposition 36 Monitoring Courts held 134,223 court sessions to monitor participants' progress in complying with Proposition 36 drug treatment program requirements, as well as conditions of probation.

III. ASSESSMENTS

For FY 2003-04, a total of 8,638 participants were ordered by the Court or Parole to report to one of the 11 Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs). A total of 7,388 new participants reported as directed. This represented an 86 percent reporting compliance rate, an improvement over last year's 82 percent. The CASCs actually had 25,342 contacts with Proposition 36 participants to provide such services as assessments, evaluations, re-evaluations, referrals and re-referrals. Many participants returned to the CASCs approximately 2-3 times during their period of treatment. The reasons for these multiple contacts included:

- Assessed for referral to appropriate treatment programs;
- Transferred to outpatient programs following successful completion of residential treatment; and
- Referred to new programs following Court-ordered referrals, changes in treatment level/modality, or unsatisfactory termination by previous treatment providers.

IV. TREATMENT SERVICES

During FY 2003-04, community-based treatment providers served a total of 15,013 participants (including those participants active in treatment at the beginning of FY 2003-04), which represented 17,860 treatment placements. At any given time, an average of 5,000 Proposition 36 participants were engaged in treatment services.

Continuing Care Treatment

A total of 2,221 participants were placed in the last phase of Proposition 36 treatment, continuing care, during FY 2003-04.

During the first three years of the program, the number of offenders involved in narcotic replacement therapy was low. However, Los Angeles County remained committed to offering narcotic replacement therapy services and outreach activities as elements of the continuum of services available to Proposition 36 program participants.

V. PROPOSITION 36 PROGRAM COMPLETIONS

In FY 2003-04, participants who completed the Proposition 36 program were as follows:

- 3,118 participants successfully completed treatment.
- Of those who successfully completed treatment, 1,759 participants petitioned the Court and had their cases dismissed.

VI. ACTIVITIES

A. Enhancing Treatment Program

i. Community Assessment Services Centers

During FY 2003-04, 11 Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs) provided assessment and treatment referral services to 7,388 Proposition 36 participants, which resulted in 25,342 actual contacts. In May 2004, Prototypes took over the operations of the Pomona CASC, which was previously subcontracted with Tri City Mental Health Center. No service interruption occurred due to this change.

To enhance communication between CASCs and the Proposition 36 Monitoring Courts, each CASC established a Court Liaison position. When necessary, the Court Liaisons attended court hearings with clients and provided information to bench officers. Some Liaisons also conducted assessments at the courthouses. The majority of CASCs conducted meetings with their local bench officers on a regular basis, in addition to attending the Regional Coordinating Council meetings.

ii. Treatment Providers

The community-based treatment providers responded to the increase of clients and needed services in all modalities for the Proposition 36 program. During FY 2003-04, Proposition 36 treatment providers served a total of 15,013 clients, an increase of 37 percent from FY 2002-03. ADPA reviewed the utilization trends of all Proposition 36 services contracts and made adjustments accordingly to ensure the maximum utilization of Proposition 36 treatment resources.

The treatment programs were also reviewed and monitored to ensure compliance with the treatment standards established for participants. These included (in addition to primary treatment services and narcotics replacement therapy) provision of job development training, and literacy and educational services.

iii. Drug Testing

As a treatment tool, treatment providers are mandated to conduct random and observed drug tests of all Proposition 36 participants based on protocols established by the treatment matrix. ADPA contracted with the Laboratory Corporation of America (LabCorp) for Proposition 36 drug testing. LabCorp was responsible for transporting, analyzing, and reporting the drug-testing results to all treatment providers within a specified time frame. LabCorp was also responsible for providing training and technical assistance.

LabCorp provided both laboratory-based and point-of-care tests. The lab-based urinalysis was a five-panel test, which includes: cannabinoids, cocaine, methamphetamines, opiates, and phencyclidine (PCP). While urinalysis was the primary type of drug testing, alternative testing (cups and dip sticks) was also acceptable. The point-of-care tests provided saliva alcohol strips, as well as test strips for barbiturates, benzodiazepines, methadone, cannabinoids, cocaine, opiates, methamphetamines, amphetamines, and phencyclidine.

During FY 2003-04, a total of 134,097 tests were conducted. Of these tests, 23,697 (or 11 percent) were positive for drug use. The providers were required to report all test results on the Treatment Courts and Probation eXchange (TCPX) system, and fax positive test results to the Court, Probation, and/or Parole within 24 hours of receipt.

• LabCorp tests	117,649
Lab-based tests	53,381
Positive tests: 8,559 (16%)
Point-of-care tests	64,268
Positive tests: 4,571 (7%)
• Non-LabCorp tests	16,448
Positive tests: 2,008 (12%)

B. Enhancing the Treatment Courts and Probation eXchange (TCPX) Automated Information System

The Treatment Courts and Probation eXchange (TCPX) system was developed as a browser-based, real-time application to support the client referral, treatment operational, and administrative requirements of the Proposition 36 program. The system linked community-based treatment providers at over 220 locations with the local courts, Community Assessment Services Centers, Probation Department, and ADPA, and allowed for the electronic and timely exchange of information.

ADPA established connections for re-located agencies, conducted TCPX trainings for new staff members of agencies and court personnel, and provided ongoing technical assistance to all users. In addition, the system was updated regularly to accurately reflect all Proposition 36 treatment providers along with levels and types of services. This tool aided the CASC staff in making referrals to treatment agencies, which were contracted by the County, and met the licensing and certification requirements established by the State.

A number of enhancements were added to TCPX during FY 2003-04, which included:

- Ability to access, by participant, number of treatment days by modality and by agency; and
- Electronic interface with the Court to receive and record Proposition 36 program completions.

C. Continuing Regional Coordinating Council Meetings

During FY 2003-04, sixteen Regional Coordinating Council meetings were conducted throughout Los Angeles County. Convened by ADPA at various public sites, attendance averaged at approximately 75-100 persons per meeting. The meetings served as a venue for receiving valuable input from key stakeholders and community groups, such as those affiliated with the California Campaign for New Drug Policies, to identify and resolve local implementation issues.

Feedback provided at the meetings was highly constructive and helpful in making program improvements. Attendees also gained better understanding of partnerships involved in implementing the County's Proposition 36 program. The meetings provided a systematic process for relaying issues to the Proposition 36 Executive Steering Committee for resolution and facilitated development or revision of Countywide policy and procedures.

Regular meeting agenda items included update reports by ADPA and roundtable discussions on topical issues between representatives of partner agencies, such as the Court, Laboratory Corporation of America (LabCorp), Probation, Parole, CASCs, treatment providers, and interested members of the general public. The agendas and meeting summaries were posted on the ADPA Proposition 36 web page. ADPA also maintained a calendar of all regional meetings on the web page.

D. Maintaining the Proposition 36 Helpline

During FY 2003-04, the ADPA Proposition 36 Helpline received more than 700 calls³. Eighty-seven percent of the calls were initiated by County-contracted treatment providers, eight percent from bench officers, and three percent from Proposition 36 participants. Two percent of the calls came from outside of Los Angeles County. Among the calls made by providers, the nature of inquiries consisted of the following:

- 20% treatment days;
- 11% drug testing;
- 10% Community Assessment Services Centers;
- 8% Treatment Courts and Probation eXchange (TCPX)-related policies and procedures;
- 7% treatment services matrix;
- 6% billing or budget issues; and
- 25% other Proposition 36-related issues.

E. Participating in Community Assessment Services Center Directors Meetings

ADPA staff participated in monthly meetings of the directors of the Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs). These meetings allowed the CASC directors to share information regarding assessments, workload, and other issues related to Proposition 36 participants. Information was also provided on hard-to-place clients and those with special needs. Issues regarding the CASCs and requests for policy clarifications were shared with the Proposition 36 Task Force Executive Steering Committee and the Regional Coordinating Councils.

3 This number does not include many calls made directly to other ADPA divisions (Finance, Information Systems, Planning, and Program Development & Technical Assistance).

F. Educating the Public

The following activities were conducted during the past year to inform the public on the County's progress in implementing the program:

- ADPA staff members and the Executive Steering Committee participated in numerous conferences and meetings as a means for raising public awareness of the program.
- On February 2, 2004, the Proposition 36 Implementation Task Force held an annual meeting to review and discuss the second year of implementation in Los Angeles County. The Task Force also approved the Proposition 36 Annual Report 2002-2003 for submission to the Countywide Criminal Justice Coordination Committee and the Board of Supervisors.
- The ADPA Proposition 36 web page (www.lapublichealth.org/adpa) provided updated information about the on-going implementation of Proposition 36. The web page featured a calendar with a meeting schedule for the Regional Coordinating Councils, meeting agendas and meeting summaries. The Annual County Plan, Proposition 36 reports, and general information were also posted. The web page provided updated Proposition 36-related information for all stakeholders, including County personnel, ADPA providers and participants, as well as for other organizations and individuals seeking a better understanding of Proposition 36, its implementation and operations.

A. Defendant Eligibility Determinations

In Fiscal Year (FY) 2003-04, the Probation Department conducted criminal history checks on 17,366 cases for Proposition 36 eligibility that include defendants referred by the Court, as well as those pre-screened prior to referral by the Court. This represented a 27 percent increase from the 13,709 cases in FY 2002-03 and a 14 percent increase from 11,997 cases in FY 2001-02. See Chart 1.

B. Sentenced Participants

In FY 2003-04, a total of 8,638 new defendants (participants) were convicted and sentenced by the Court or were ordered by the California Department of Corrections/Parole to participate in Proposition 36. This was a 12 percent decrease from the 9,836 sentenced participants in FY 2002-03 and a 7 percent decrease from the 9,255 participants sentenced in FY 2001-02. See Chart 2.

C. Assessments

Of the 8,638 defendants convicted in FY 2003-04, the Community Assessment Services Centers (CASCs) provided assessment and treatment referral services to 7,388 Proposition 36 participants ordered by either the Court or Parole, resulting in 25,342 contacts. In FY 2002-03, CASCs conducted assessment and treatment referral services for 8,048 participants, resulting in 26,869 contacts. Participants decreased by 8 percent and contacts by 6 percent. In FY 2001-02, CASCs conducted assessment and treatment referral services for 6,103 participants, resulting in 11,424 contacts. While the number of participants decreased slightly in FY 2003-04, the reporting rate for assessments increased from 82 percent to 86 percent. See Chart 3.

D. Treatment Services

Of the 7,388 new participants assessed in FY 2003-04, a total of 6,030 (82 percent) reported to community-based treatment provider as ordered. In terms of actual services provided during FY 2003-04, Proposition 36 treatment providers served a total of 15,013 participants (including those participants active in treatment at the beginning of FY 2003-04).

Of the 8,048 new participants assessed in FY 2002-03, a total of 6,379 (79 percent) reported to treatment services. The volume of actual services given in FY 2002-03 by Proposition 36 treatment providers was a total of 10,979 participants (including those participants active in treatment at the beginning of FY 2002-03).

Of the 6,103 new participants assessed during FY 2001-02, the first year of implementation, a total of 5,112 (84 percent) reported to treatment services. There was a increase of 37 percent in terms of actual services provided from 10,979 in FY 2002-03 to 15,013 in FY 2003-04. The reporting rate for treatment services also increased from 79 percent to 82 percent. See Charts 3 and 4.

Gender of Participants

While the number of Proposition 36 participants receiving treatment services increased in number over the past three fiscal years, the relative gender percentages of participants remained constant as follows:

	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
Female	1,098 (21%)	2,302 (21%)	3,229 (21%)
Male	4,014 (79%)	8,677 (79%)	11,784 (79%)

Age of Participants

The relative percentages of participants by age changed very little across the first three fiscal years. The largest number of participants remained between ages 36 and 40 for all three years. See Chart 5 and Table 1.

Ethnicity/Race of Participants

For all three fiscal years, Hispanics/Latinos comprised the largest ethnic group/race among participants at about 40 percent, followed by Whites (28 percent) and African Americans (27 percent). See Chart 6 and Table 2.

Primary Drug of Choice Among Participants

Methamphetamine remained the most prevalent primary drug of choice reported by program participants across all three fiscal years (33 percent). The percentage of participants reporting methamphetamine as the primary drug of choice increased from 29.9 percent in FY 2001-02 to 34.9 percent in FY 2003-04. See Chart 7 and Table 3.

Primary Treatment Services

The largest number of participants received Level II services across all three fiscal years. However, the percentage of participants placed in Level II decreased while the percentage of participants placed in Level I increased somewhat during FY 2003-04.

	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
Level I	1,926 (37.7%)	4,022 (36.6%)	5,766 (38.4%)

Outpatient and Residential Treatment Services

The relative percentages of participants admitted to outpatient (88 percent) and residential (12 percent) treatment services remained constant across the first three fiscal years. Less than one percent of participants received narcotic replacement therapy (Included as an outpatient treatment service).

	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04

II. A THREE-YEAR TALLY (July 1, 2001 to June 30, 2004)

Since the program's inception on July 1, 2001, a total of 21, 539 drug offenders were assessed and referred for Proposition 36 treatment services and a total of 17,521 reported to community-based treatment providers as ordered by the Court or Parole. The overall show rate for treatment during the first three years was 81 percent.

Of the 17,521 participants who entered treatment up to June 30, 2004, a total of 4,817 completed treatment and 4,853 participants were still actively receiving treatment services. For those participants completing treatment, a total of 2,329 also petitioned the Court and had their cases dismissed.

III. CONCLUSION: THE FIRST THREE YEARS . . . AND BEYOND 2006

Despite facing significant challenges, Los Angeles County successfully implemented Proposition 36. From voter passage of the initiative in November 2000 to the mandated implementation deadline of July 1, 2001, the County had only seven months to make major changes to long-established procedures for handling drug offenders in both the criminal justice and drug treatment service systems. Due to the earlier establishment of the County's Drug Court Program, a system for communication and collaboration was already in place. It was this foundation that allowed for the rapid planning and implementation of a countywide Proposition 36 program. The use of dedicated courts, co-location of various initial assessment and probation services, an automated information and reporting system, and continuous communication among key stakeholders were all critical elements contributing to the many significant milestones and achievements accomplished by the County partners and stakeholders.

ADPA in partnership with the Executive Steering Committee were engaged in efforts to systematically compile and analyze program data, such as participant recidivism and rearrests, as a means for improving program management and operations. At the time of this report, the overall data from the program were still evolving, and participant data were in the early stages of review. However, the County clearly met the mandate of the law to provide comprehensive treatment services for drug offenders who would otherwise likely be incarcerated due to their substance abuse problems.

While the actual number of referrals of participants decreased slightly in FY 2003-04, the overall number of persons receiving treatment services continued to increase. At any given time, approximately 5,000 persons were being treatment for substance abuse problems under the umbrella of Proposition 36.

Although the mandate for Proposition 36 drug treatment services continues indefinitely, the specific funding for the program ends on June 30, 2006. With less than two years of funding remaining, the Los Angeles County Proposition 36 Task Force is presently working closely with stakeholders in Los Angeles County and throughout California to implement the necessary measures to ensure continuation of the program.
